01

Purpose and limits

This standard controls the rule set, not the entire operation.

This standard governs the guest-facing operating restrictions adopted for this house, the source discipline behind those restrictions, the approved way staff communicates them, and the limits of private enforcement under the rental relationship.

GOVERNS	DOES NOT REPLACE
Current rule set. Which operating restrictions are active for the jurisdiction, site, and activity named on the control plate.	Standard Operating Procedures (SOP), Agreement / Execution Packet, Pickup & Return, Training Record, Fleet controls, or the Office Standard.
Communication. What the guest must be shown, what may be displayed, and how staff describes law, site rules, and house policy without changing their meaning.	Qualified counsel, insurer requirements, emergency services, official authority, or current local law.
Private enforcement limits. Which authorized business role may warn, hold, terminate, or direct recovery under the Agreement.	A police power, citation, court order, criminal penalty, or right to confront, detain, threaten, or enter property without authority.

CONTROL PRINCIPLE
This Standard identifies which rule is current and how it is communicated. The SOP controls the operating response. The Agreement controls the private rental relationship.

Three kinds of rule

The source determines how the rule is described to the guest.

TYPE	SOURCE	HOW STAFF DESCRIBES IT
Government requirement	Current statute, ordinance, official posted restriction, or other verified government source.	Describe it as an official requirement only to the extent the current source supports that statement. Do not invent penalties or enforcement consequences.
Property or site rule	Property owner, park, resort, event, private community, venue, or other site authority.	Describe it as a site or property restriction. Identify the place to which it applies. Do not convert a private site rule into a criminal-law statement.
House policy	A restriction adopted by the rental business where permitted, including a stricter operating rule when the governing source allows it.	Describe it as a company or rental policy. It is not presented as a criminal statute, police order, court order, or official fine schedule.

Source language rule

SOURCE DISCIPLINE

The guest message must preserve the nature of the source. A house rule can be stricter than a minimum only when the business has confirmed it may adopt that restriction. Staff does not upgrade a company policy into law by wording, tone, decal, or threat.

OFFICIAL PENALTIES AND FINES

A house policy is never presented as a criminal statute or official fine schedule unless the current official source is attached in the Control Record and the wording has been reviewed for accurate customer communication.

03

How a rule becomes current

A rule is current only after source, document, training, and display are aligned.

01 VERIFY

Verified source recorded in the Control Record.

02 STANDARD

Rule written in this Standard with its source type preserved.

03 GUEST CARD

Same sense appears on the Guest Card when the guest must see it.

04 AGREEMENT

Same sense appears in the Agreement restricted-use plate when it governs the rental.

05 TRAIN

Assigned roles are trained to the current wording and route.

06 DISPLAY

Only approved channels - Card, map, or decal - carry the current message.

NOT CURRENT

Verbal habit, a social post, a leftover decal, last season's card, an old map, an employee memory, or a sign placed without source control is not the current rule set.

When one layer changes, the named authority checks every downstream layer before the next release. The rule is not considered operationally complete while guest-facing documents conflict.

04

Who may do what

Private operating authority is assigned. It is not created by habit.

ACTION	PERMITTED ROLE	LIMIT
Explain the current Guest Card	Trained role assigned to guest release or reception.	Explain the approved message. Do not rewrite, soften, expand, or invent a rule.
Declare a temporary hold	Named authority.	Hold reason must be tied to current policy, source uncertainty, site closure, safety condition, or other authorized operational cause.
Lift a temporary hold	Named authority.	Counter staff does not resume release on its own.
Issue a private warning	Named authority or designated trained role.	Warning is issued under the rental relationship, not as a government citation.
Terminate under the Agreement	Named authority.	Follow the Agreement and SOP. Preserve safety; direct recovery only within authorized process.
Resume after breach or hold	Named authority.	Resume only after the condition is resolved and the required record is preserved.

AUTHORITY RULE

Field staff do not invent a rule. A chalkboard, old decal, custom sign, vendor proof, social post, or repeated employee habit is not authority.

05

Operating area and restricted use

The business completes this plate from verified sources. No specific road or site is carved into the template.

CONFIGURATION RULE

Do not insert a highway, beach, cart path, operating hour, penalty, or local exception until the business has verified the source and entered it through the Control Record.

06

Temporary hold

A hold protects the release gate while a rule, condition, or authority question is unresolved.

Who declares it

The named authority declares the hold. A trained counter role may pause a release and request authority when a required condition is unclear or unresolved.

What the counter says

State that the rental is temporarily on hold while the applicable operating requirement or condition is confirmed. Do not promise a refund, charge, approval, or denial outside assigned authority.

How it is lifted

Only the named authority lifts the hold after the reason is resolved, the current rule is confirmed, and any required record or material update is complete.

What it is not

A temporary hold is not a refund decision, charge decision, legal ruling, citation, or admission of fault. Refund and payment outcomes remain governed by the Agreement and authorized management process.

EXCEPTION ROUTE

Any request for an exception goes to the named authority. There is no "just this once" counter exception.

08

Agreement link

The Standard, Guest Card, and Agreement must communicate the same restriction in the same sense.

AGREEMENT PLATE	STANDARD CONTROL	RELEASE RULE
Restricted use	The active operating boundary and house restrictions must match the current Standard and approved Guest Card.	If the words materially conflict, stop release until the named authority aligns them.
Assumption of risk	The Standard does not rewrite legal risk language. It identifies operating rules and communication controls only.	Use only the current professionally reviewed Agreement language.
Additional charges	This Standard sets no amounts. A charge is referenced only when the current Agreement contains the applicable disclosed schedule.	Do not announce an improvised charge because a rule was breached. Preserve facts and route the file.

Mismatch protocol

01	STOP	Do not release the key while guest-facing rule documents conflict.
02	ISOLATE	Identify the Standard, Card, Agreement plate, map, or decal that is out of alignment.
03	ALIGN	Named authority confirms the current source and correct wording.
04	REPLACE	Remove or replace outdated guest-facing material before further release.
05	RESUME	Resume only after the current message is consistent across required channels.

09

Field

This Standard names the rule in force. The SOP owns the response steps.

When a possible breach is reported or observed, the operating response follows the current SOP. This Standard is used to identify the current restriction, its source type, and the guest-facing message that was in force for that rental.

CONFIRM

Confirm the asset belongs to the fleet and the reservation is active before any private enforcement action.

CLASSIFY + CONTACT

Identify the current rule and risk class, then contact the renter through the approved route.

DISENGAGE / ESCALATE

Do not chase, confront, block, or improvise. Escalate according to SOP and named authority.

DOCUMENT

Preserve the rule in force, date, time, location, contact, observation source, and related incident record.

NO ENFORCEMENT WITHOUT CONFIRMATION

A report, photograph, GPS signal, witness statement, or visual similarity does not replace confirmation of the asset and active rental. The SOP controls the confirmation standard.

10

After a breach

Preserve facts first. Private notices and financial decisions follow the controlled route.

Preserve the record

FACT	PRESERVE
Rule in force	Standard edition, source type, Guest Card or display channel, and Agreement plate used for the rental.
Rental identity	Reservation, asset identifier, renter contact route, and active-rental confirmation.
Event	Date, time, location, observable conduct, communications, witness information, and supporting material when appropriate.
Action	Who authorized the warning, hold, termination, or recovery direction and how the renter was notified.

Private enforcement boundaries

- 01
- Use the private warning or private termination plate held in the Control Record when that action is authorized.
- 02
- Do not announce a charge at the bumper. Charges are reviewed only under the current Agreement and supporting evidence.
- 03
- Do not represent a private notice as a government citation, police order, court order, or official penalty.
- 04
- Do not confront, block traffic, enter private property without authorization, promise arrest, or threaten criminal consequences.
- 05
- Update the incident record under the SOP. If staff invented a rule, used an outdated rule, or stayed silent on a required rule, route the matter for retraining and document correction.

11

Display channels

The rule is communicated through approved channels. Display does not create the rule.

Guest Card Required when the guest must see or acknowledge an operating restriction before release. The wording follows the current Standard and does not exceed the verified source.	Map Optional visual channel for permitted and restricted geography. It supports the Card and Agreement; it does not replace written restrictions or source control.	Decal Optional in-use reminder. Wording comes only from the current Card / Standard. The graphics vendor produces the display; the vendor does not decide the law.

Decal control

- 01 Readable at the intended viewing distance and placement.
- 02 Does not obstruct driver vision, controls, mirrors, required labels, warnings, or safety equipment.
- 03 Uses only wording already approved in the current rule set.
- 04 Does not create a new fine, penalty, threat, or official-looking authority statement.
- 05 Removed or replaced the same day the rule changes or the wording becomes outdated.

CHANNEL RULE

A display is a reminder. Source verification and document alignment create the controlled rule set.

Relation of the three documents

Each document has one job. The system fails when the jobs are mixed.

STANDARD

CURRENT RULES + METHOD

The controlled internal rule set. It identifies source type, current operating restrictions, authority limits, communication method, and links to the SOP.

GUEST CARD

WHAT THE CUSTOMER SEES

The concise guest-facing message for rules the guest must know before release. It is not the source file and it does not contain internal enforcement records.

CONTROL RECORD

SOURCES + VERSIONS + PRIVATE NOTICES

The evidence layer: official sources, verification dates, review history, version alignment, internal acknowledgment, and private warning / termination records.

LINKED DOCUMENT	ROLE IN THE SYSTEM
Agreement / Execution Packet	Creates the customer rental terms, restricted-use obligations, risk language, and disclosed charge framework.
SOP	Owns release order, field response, incident handling, records, escalation, and law-enforcement procedure.
Training Record	Shows which employee has been trained and authorized for the operating role that communicates or enforces the rule.

ALIGNMENT STOP

If the Standard, Guest Card, Agreement, map, or decal materially contradicts another current layer, stop the release and route the conflict to the named authority.

Closing notice

Controlled rules must remain current, accurate, limited, and privately enforceable only through authorized process.

This Local Rules Standard is an experience-based operating resource. It is designed to help a rental business organize current operating restrictions, guest communication, source control, display channels, and private enforcement boundaries.

Adapt before use

Complete the jurisdiction, site, activity type, operating boundaries, source types, guest channels, authority assignments, and SOP links for the actual business. Remove examples or channels that do not apply.

Verify before release

Confirm current local law, official restrictions, site rules, insurer requirements, and the current Agreement. Where legal meaning, enforceability, or required disclosure matters, obtain qualified professional review.

Maintain the system

When a rule changes, update the Control Record first, then align this Standard, the Guest Card, Agreement restricted-use plate, Training Record, and any approved map or decal before the next affected release.

CLOSING NOTICE

This document is not legal advice, an insurer policy, a law-enforcement directive, a citation, or a substitute for current official information. Adapt to the site, activity, insurer, and local law. Counsel reviews before use.

Current source. Clear message. Controlled authority.
